Situation

Longridge Farm occupies a pleasant rural and coastal setting and is located in a secluded and secure belt of land that is capable of producing very good grass crops and lush grazing for stock. The surrounding area is mainly dedicated to agricultural use including livestock and dairy farms. The farm is located some 3 miles from the popular and historically important, township of Laugharne which lies on the estuary of the River Taf. Being a popular tourist destination for its connection with Dylan Thomas the township offers an array of local services and amenities. The small town of St Clears is approximately 4 miles from Laugharne and provides a range of services for all day to day needs, and excellent accessibility to the A40 which leads to the County Towns of Carmarthen and Haverfordwest. The M4 connection at Pont Abraham is a further 20 minute car journey from Carmarthen.

Directions

From the direction of Carmarthen, head west on the A40 towards St Clears, turning left onto the slip road signposted 'St Clears/Laugharne' (before St Clears roundabout). At the junction take the right hand turn 'A4066' travelling through Laugharne and Broadway taking a left hand turn signposted 'Nine Acres Campsite', follow this road for a mile or so to the gates of the MOD. Follow the road to the left hand side and the entrance to Longridge Farm will be seen on your left hand side. Viewings are by appointment only.

Description

The ring fenced farm was built in 1819 by G. P. Watkins and is being sold with the original acreage extending to some 114 acres or thereabouts of productive, permanent, improved pasture which is laid to ridge and furrow and has high carbon capture ability.

The land is in one block with a green lane leading from the farmyard to most of the fields providing easy movement of livestock, in addition there is roadside access to most of the fields. The farm is ideally suited for livestock purposes having been a dairy farm.

Holding full organic status, the farm has been sensitively managed with silage and grazing fields and is a wildlife haven being a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) with designation for the Golden Plover and Water Voles with many other rare species making it their home including Lapwings and Red Kites etc.

The homestead, approached via a long private drive, has a range of appealing, traditional stone built outbuildings some of which adjoin the farmhouse giving potential to extend and convert subject to the necessary consents to create a magnificent home. In addition, there is a selection of modern agricultural buildings.

As the country transitions to the net zero target, the carbon capture capabilities, environmental benefits and size of Longridge Farm give a rare potential for a sustainable, environmental friendly, low density, practical unit to be purchased.

To fully appreciate what this pleasant farm has to offer, an early inspection is strongly recommended.
