The Area: St. Briavels (pronounced Brevels) is a medium-sized village and civil parish in the Royal Forest of Dean in west Gloucestershire, England. It is close to the England-Wales border and 5 miles south of Coleford. It stands almost 800 feet above sea level on the edge of a limestone plateau above the valley of the River Wye, above an ancient meander of the river. It is sheltered behind the crumbling walls of the 12th century St Briavels Castle.

The Wye Valley is a rural retreat with some of the most breathtaking landscapes in Britain. As well as the dramatic scenery and wonderful wildlife that come with being a protected National Landscape, you'll find an abundance of family-friendly outdoor adventures including cycling, kayaking and walking. In fact, the lure of the Wye Valley is just as strong for home seekers as it is tourists.

The nearest shopping facilities are in Coleford with Lydney town being a little further. The market towns of Ross and Monmouth are a short drive of approximately 20 minutes and 30 minutes respectively.
